Record January Rainfall Makes Crop Outlook Bright

Comanche had the wettest January in more than two decades, and possibly the most moisture recorded here during the month of January in history, with a total of 6.69 inches of precipitation during the month, according to local rainfall records.

The wet month was hailed by County Agent Agent Dickson Jr., as getting 1961 off to a good start from an agricultural viewpoint.

The county agent pointed out that last month's rainfall, combined with the snow and sleet recorded this week, is ample to put a good sub-soil moisture in the ground.

But Agent Dickson was in agreement with most others, that the area could use a little warm sunny weather for a few weeks.

"With some warm weather, and just a few summer rains at the right time, we should be assured of good crops for the county's farmers," pointed out Dickson.

Another great value from the present sub-soil moisture in the county, is its benefit to range conditions. The present sub-soil moisture can carry grasses and cover crops for some time without additional rainfall.

Dickson, who was in a meeting here with agricultural leaders of eight counties Wednesday, said that all were of the opinion that with the good moisture conditions this year, that farmers have the best opportunity in recent years to get top dollar and cent returns from fertilizer applied to small grains. Look for the area's agriculture in 1961 is bright, judging from present conditions, the popular Comanche County agent concluded.

Jaycees Top-Farmer Banquet Re-Set For Monday Night

STOCK SHOW WINNER—Pictured is C. T. Parker, Superintendent of the Southwest Exposition and Fat Stock Show, Fort Worth, as he looks over the Red Angus entry of Wilhelm Brothers, Comanche, third place winner in the summer yearling bull class. The Wilhelm ranch, located six miles south of Comanche, is owned by Dr. Jack Wilhelm, San Angelo, and Gus Wilhelm Comanche—and is recognized as one of the top Red Angus ranches in the nation.

The Comanche Jaycees Outstanding Young Farmer Banquet originally set for last Monday night but postponed due to cold, icy weather, has been rescheduled for Monday night, February 13.

Mayor Tom Vandergriff, of Arlington, was to be the speaker at last week's meeting, but a conflict in speaking engagements will prevent him from being here next Monday.

Calvin Pigg, WBAP Radio and TV Farm Editor, well known here and throughout the state, will be the special guest speaker at this annual Jaycee affair, honoring the top young farmers of the area.

Pigg recently completed a five nation tour to the Far East and Southwest Pacific at the invitation of former Secretary of Agriculture Benson.

Pigg was one of five farm press representatives invited by the Secretary to visit Japan, Formosa, the Philippines, Australia and New Zealand last November. It was Benson's final trip in his official capacity. Nature of the trip was trade, market development and goodwill.

Pigg will discuss each country visited—its agriculture, economics and people—and show colored slides of the 25,000-mile, 18-day trip.

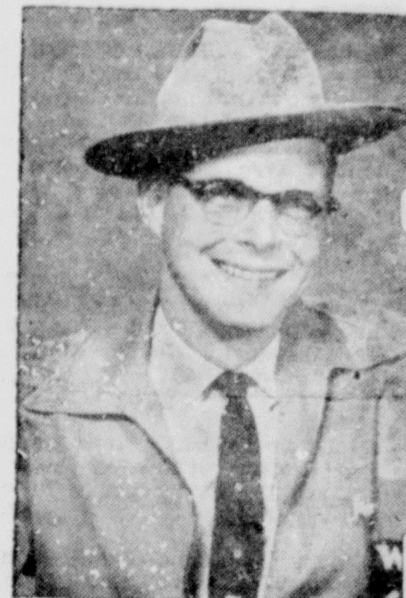

Advance ticket sale has been good. Jaycees report, but banquet tickets may still be purchased from any member of the Comanche Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The banquet is to be held at Mc's Cafeteria.

Master of ceremonies for this annual banquet is to be Weldon Kirby, Gustine Vocational Agriculture instructor.

Morgan's Cafe Burglarized

Burglars hit Morgan's Cafe, on the South Side of the Square, sometime late Wednesday night or early Thursday morning and looted $32.70 in change hidden in a milk cooler.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Morgan, owners of the cafe, said that they put their change in the cooler every night. Usually they put both change and bills in the cooler, however, Mr. Morgan stated that he happened to roll up the bills and stick them in his pocket Wednesday, before closing.

The thief gained entrance to the cafe, by climbing a tree and crawling through the stove vent.

Sheriff Belye Bean, who is investigating the crime, stated that no leads have been uncovered.

Methodist Meeting To Start Sunday —

Well-Known Valley Preacher To Conduct Revival Meeting

The First Methodist Church, Comanche, in connection with the conference-wide Evangelistic Enlistment Mission, will open a week's revival meeting Sunday morning, February 12—continuing through Friday evening, February 17.

Rev. Grady Peters, pastor of the First Methodist Church, McAllen, will be the visiting evangelist.

Earl Ward, evangelistic singer from Waco, will be in charge of the song services.

The week day services will be at 7 a.m. and 7 p.m. Coffee and doughnuts will be served before the morning services.

Rev. Peters, recognized as one of the top Methodist preachers in the Rio Grande Valley, attended college at Texas Tech, and graduated from Daniel Baker College. He lived in Comanche County, when a youth, and it was during this time that he was licensed to preach.

Rev. Peters joined the Central Texas Conference, and served two Brown County churches—Johnson Memorial in Brownwood, and Indian Creek, before transferring to the Southwest Texas Conference. He served churches at Eden, San Angelo, Big Lake, and Corpus Christi before moving to McAllen, where he is serving in his second year. He is chairman of the Board of Evangelism in his conference, and is vice chairman of the Board of Missions.

"We're very fortunate to secure Rev. Peters to head our revival," says Rev. Plez Todd, pastor, who adds, "He is an outstanding preacher."

The visiting singer for the revival, Mr. Ward, is a graduate of Baylor University. He spent several years in the administrative teaching field in the public school system of Texas.

Since World War II, Mr. Ward has devoted full time to the field of evangelism, averaging some 30 revivals a year. He has led the evangelistic singing program in 30 different states.

Rev. Todd says he feels that excellent help has been secured for the revival, and invites and urges everyone to attend these services.

The average date for the last killing frost in the spring in Comanche County is March 22.

Comanche and Brown Counties were both organized in 1856. At the first, Comanche County grew more rapidly. When the first census was taken after the two counties were organized, Comanche County in 1860 had a total of 709 people while Brown County had 224.

Comanche and Brown Counties each picked up about 300 people during the next decade. Thus, in 1870, Comanche County had a population of 1,001 and Brown County had 544.

Comanche County was still ahead in 1880 with 8,608 people, and Brown County just a little shy with 8,414.

In 1890 Comanche County with 15,608 population was more than 4,000 ahead of Brown County, which had 11,421.

In 1900 Comanche County was still further ahead with 23,000 as compared to 16,019 for Brown.

By 1910 Comanche County had picked up nearly 4,000 to have a total of 27,186. That was the biggest population that Comanche County had on any census count, before or since. On that count Brown gained on Comanche County, but still had just 22,935.

In the 1920 census Comanche County had 25,748. This was the first time that Comanche County had shown a decrease during the decade. But Brown County also showed a decrease and had only 21,685.

In 1930 Comanche County showed a big drop, down to 18,430, while Brown County showed a big gain to 26,382. This was the first time that Brown County went ahead of Comanche County in population, but it has been ever since.

In 1940, Comanche County showed a gain of nearly 800 and had a total of 19,245. Brown showed a loss of about 600, but was still ahead of Comanche with a total of 25,924.

In the 1950 report, Comanche County showed a loss of over 3,000, the total being 15,516, while Brown showed a gain of more than 3,000 for a total of 28,604, the largest population that county has ever had.

During the decade just closed both Comanche and Brown Counties showed losses in the 1960 census. Comanche dropped more than 3,000 down to 11,865; and Brown County lost nearly 4,000 down to 24,728.

While statistics are not available to prove it, building permits and scholastic gains indicate that both counties hit the comeback trail last year and things look bright for the two during the jet-age of the '60's.

An Alaskan, visiting in Texas, was viewing a five foot oak tree, and exclaimed, "Now in my state we can grow a tree about that size within a year. How long did it take you to grow that one?" Said the Texan, "Can't say for sure, but it wasn't here yesterday."

"At 90 miles drove Eddie Shawn, the motor stopped, but he went on."

"People are never alone who have noble thoughts, and there is nothing that stimulates good thinking like good reading," said Benjamin Franklin.

Every man is good for something. If he makes a mess of his own affairs, he usually can tell you just how you ought to run yours and have time left over for expert advice on how to run the government.

"A good wife," says an exchange, "never criticises her husband in public. If she is not bragging on him she is apologizing for him."

Business is like a wheel — it stands still until something or somebody pushes it.

Several years ago the following article, entitled, "The Art of Getting Along" was submitted by a Comanche banker:

"Sooner or later, a man if he is wise, discovers that business is a mixture of good days and bad days, victory and defeat, give and take.

"He learns that it does not pay to be a sensitive soul—that he should let some things go over his head like water off a duck's back.

"He learns that he who loses his temper is himself, the loser.

"He learns that all men sooner or later have burnt toast for breakfast, now and then, and that he should not take the other fellow's grouch too seriously.

"He learns that carrying a chip on his shoulder is the easiest way to get into a fight.

"He learns that the quickest way to become unpopular is to carry tales and gossip about others.

"He learns that it does not matter so much who gets the credit, so long as the business shows a profit.

"He learns that buck passing always turns out to be a boom-erang and that it never pays.

"He soon learns to realize that the business could generally get along just about as well, and sometimes better, without him.

"He learns that even the cus-

American Farmers Touring India Receive Very Warm Welcome

Seventeen American farmers report that they received "a very warm welcome" when they arrived in New Delhi (India) on January 1. The nine state leaders of the Farm Bureau, Farmers Union and Grange, accompanied by eight wives, are spending six weeks in India, getting acquainted with Indian farmers and their problems. This farmer-to-farmer exchange, now in its second year, is sponsored by Farmers and World Affairs, Inc., of Philadelphia, to help promote friendship and understanding between the farmers of the U. S. and India. The project was planned in cooperation with The Farmers' Forum, India's national farm organization, which worked out the itinerary for the group and is serving as their host.

The Americans were greeted at the New Delhi airport by K. D.
Sharma, secretary of the Farmers' Forum, R. B. Deshpande, assistant secretary, and John Webb, of the U. S. Technical Cooperation Mission staff, along with other representatives of Farmers'

Forum and government. All members of the party were decorated with garlands of flowers and escorted to their hotel. In the evening, the group was entertained at a "delicious dinner of new and different foods" by Mr. and Mrs. Sharma and their family. Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Webb and Mr. and Mrs.
Deshpande and their small son.
After dinner, hosts and guests discussed relations between the farm organizations of their two countries.

The Americans spent a week in New Delhi undergoing an intensive orientation course, before leaving on January 8 to visit some of the major farming areas of India. In addition to visiting agricultural colleges and experimental and development projects, and talking with agricultural and other government leaders, they will spend some time living with Indian farm-families in or near the villages.

An interview with Prime Minister Nehru is scheduled toward the end of the visit, but the group had their first glimpse of the Prime Minister when he arrived at Bombay airport while they were waiting to change planes.

As they described the scene: Several thousand Indians were on hand to greet him. From babes in arms to old people, dressed in every color of the rainbow, they had all traveled several miles to see their Prime Minister, most of them on foot, some on bicycles, a few in cars. It was a beautiful sight to see."

Among the Americans are three State Grange Masters and their wives; Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Key of Lodge, South Carolina; Mr. and Mrs. Loren Murphy of Newton, Iowa; and Mr. and Mrs.
William B. Pearson of Ogilvie, Minnesota. Farm Bureau leaders in the party are Mr. and Mrs.
Allan Grant of Visalia, California,
Mr. and Mrs. Peris Owen of Newark, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. R.
V. Swanson of Pocatello, Idaho, and Delmar Roberts of Berino,
New Mexico. Also in the group are Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Simpson of Kamas, Utah, of the Utah Farmers Union, and Mr.
and Mrs. David Ruesink of Adrian, Michigan, representing Farmers and World Affairs. Mrs.
Ruesink is the former Lou Ellen Durham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Durham, Comanche.

Farmers and World Affairs, Inc., sponsor of the project, is a non-profit educational organization working with the three major farm organizations in the U. S. to promote greater interest and concern about world affairs among farmers. Its headquarters are at 1201 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

Six of America's most chic women have been awarded the 1960 coveted Golden Hat Award! Irene Dunne, Mrs. William Randolph Hearst, Jr., Loretta Young, Roberta Peters, Arlene Dahl, and Joan Fontaine were chosen by the votes of hundreds of women's page fashion editors from all over the country.

Arlene Dahl, a millinery charmer, has become the outstanding symbol of the well-dressed and attractive woman.

Irene Dunne, representing women in Business and Government, believes that a pretty hat brightens up dreary days and keeps a woman working in a predominantly male field looking feminine and charming. Said Miss Dunne: "I can never have enough hats. It seems there's always one more I just can't live without."

Mrs. Hearst, an outstanding leader of American and International society, said: "No outfit is chic without a hat. A hat becomes a personal signature more than anything else that you wear."

Loretta Young, whose clothes on camera are the talk of the feminine world, was the winner for Television. Said Miss Young: "The Golden Hat Award is a wonderful honor. Hats have always been lucky for me."

The singer voted as best-hatted was Roberta Peters, who finds hats particularly delightful when she goes on tour. Commented Miss Peters: "One of the nicest things about winning this award is that my husband is so pleased too. He always likes to see me in pretty hats."

Beautiful Arlene Dahl was the winner for Motion Pictures, in acknowledgement of her choice of hats as glamorous accents to her costumes. Stated Miss Dahl: "I'm really thrilled. I've written about the Golden Hat Award in my column, but I never thought I would win one."

From the Theater comes the sixth winner, Joan Fontaine, who has over thirty hats in her wardrobe. Stated Miss Fontaine: "I love all hats but my special love is evening hats because they make me feel glamorous during the most glamorous time of a woman's day."

Local WSCS Celebrate 20th Anniversary

In December, Woman's Society of Christian Service of the local First Methodist Church observed the 20th anniversary of the organization.

In 1940 what was known as the Woman's Missionary Society was reorganized throughout Methodism and from that time on has been known by its present name.

Mrs. L. R. Williams was the 1st president of their local WSCS. Observance was held during the regular evening church hour and Mrs. Williams gave a brief history, listing the growth in membership, pledges, outgrowth and local service.

At the time of the organization there was a charter membership of 25 in one circle. Now there are two active circles with a total membership of 44.

Mrs. Reid Thomas sang a solo accompanied by Miss Marguerite Ross at the organ.

Mrs. Louise Hill, member of the Wesleyan Service Guild, spoke concerning that organization. It was organized in the late 1940's with Mrs. J. E. Lightfoot the first president. During that time the organization has more than doubled their charter membership and is a very active group in the life of the church with 37 members.

Hamilton Boys; Comanche Girls Win Games Here

The Comanche Indians dropped a 45-43 thriller here Tuesday to the league leading Hamilton Bulldogs.

The loss dropped the Indians to a 2-3 district mark, and virtually clinched the district title for the Hamilton Bulldogs. They have only one district game this season, that to the Indians—and have been unextended against all district teams except Comanche.

The Indians have three more games on the schedule—going to De Leon Friday night, hosting Granbury here next Tuesday, and then traveling to Granbury next Thursday night, for the special make-up game.

The Indian Maidens turned in perhaps their best performance of the season in gaining revenge for an early season loss to the fens of Hamilton—soundly trouncing the Hamilton lassies here Tuesday night 57-40.

SuAnn Henson and Barbara Jennings each hit for twenty-four points—being consistently accurate at hitting from outside as well as from the free toss lane, and lay-up shots. Darlene Hump-frey came in for an important 6 Pat Johnson 1 to round out the scoring for the locals.

Points—Dorthea Bird had 2 and Sue Collins, Retta Welch, and Mavis Timmons kept the pressure on the Hamilton forwards all night—for top performances.

GYMNASIUM PACKED
Playing before the largest, and most enthusiastic crowd of the season—the hard fought, closely matched game kept the crowd—including a good delegation of partisan Bulldog fans, in an uproar throughout the contest.

Comanche got off to a fast start and after a couple of minutes of play led 6-1. Then the Indians cooled off, as the Bulldogs, led by their tall 6'8" center, McCaleb began to hit. Hamilton pulled up to a 15-7 margin at the end of the first quarter.

Coach Ray Smith's Indians began to close the gap in the second quarter, and at the intermission time, trailed by two—27-25.

Again cold as the weather outside, in the early part of the third quarter, the Indians failed to hit a basket in the first five minutes of play, and trailed by 8. At the end of the third quarter the visitors were out in front 38-30.

But the locals came back strong in the final period—knotting the count with 2 minutes left. Trailing by two points and with 15 seconds to play, Comanche gained possession, drove down—and a shot by Billy Wheat narrowly missed, as the buzzer sounded. Big blow to the Indians in the final period was the loss of forward Jimmy Walker by the foul route.

Scoring for the locals was closely bunched—with Walker hitting for 12, Roy Hufstutler and Harold Perkins 10 each and Roland Collins 7. Billy Wheat had 4 points to round out the point making.

The towering McCaleb led all point-makers with 17. Johnson had 10 for runner-up honors for the visitors.

Regardless when you are contacted, please, will you come to the aid of this worthy cause? Beyond the blinding light of man's knowledge of the science of medicine and its relation to health rests a broad rim of darkness which is probed daily by the tiny lights of research. Nearly one million Americans last year were stricken by heart disease. This fact alone underscores the pressing urgency of the need for increased research in the cardiovascular field. This is an investment to protect your heart, as well as the hearts you love.

Indians Split Pair With Dublin Lions

The Dublin Lions scored their second victory of the year over the Comanche Indians, in 8-AA district play, edging past the locals 60-59, in a thriller in Dublin Friday night.

The Indian Maidens, playing an improved brand of ball downed the Dublin Lionesses 62-51.

In the opener, Suann Henson looped in 23 points; Barbara Jennings 22, Darlene Humphrey 14, and Dortha Byrd 3.

Guards Retta Welch, Mavis Timmons, Sue Collins and Cassie Wilhelm all played good ball, as the Indian Maidens brought their district record to a 2-2 mark.

Dublin Starts Fast

The Dublin Lions started off fast, and continued to hit form the field with consistent accuracy throughout the first half. The Lions, paced by the Evans brothers and Jones, sprang to an early lead, and were out in front 16-10 at the end of the first period.

At half-time, the locals were working at closing the gap—but were still trailing 34-27.

At the end of the third quarter the score was knotted 40-40. Roland Collins, big tall Indian forward who was doing a good job in helping Billy Wheat control the boards fouled out midway in the final stanza.

Big blow against the Indians in the final stanza, was the Lions' ability to cash in on free shots. Bob Evans hit six straight, and substitute Doggett, who came in when Bob Evans fouled out, cashed in on a couple without missing. Wheat led the Indians in scoring with 17 points. Collins and Jimmy Walker were runners-up with 14 thru the bucket.

For the Lions, the Evans boys led the attack—with younger brother, Jim hitting for 17 and Bob, 16. Jones had 1 to round out most of the scoring for the winning Lions.

Comanche hit 15 of 18 foul shots for the night—for their best percentage of the season. Dublin hit it at a 54 per cent shooting percentage from the field in the first half.

MRS. JOEL REED TERRY
... nee Miss Patricia Sue Galiga

Miss Patricia Galiga Bride Of Mr. Joel Reed Terry

Miss Patricia Sue Galiga, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Palma T. Galiga, 615 Park Drive, Hillsboro, was married Saturday, Jan. 28 at 8 p.m. to Joel Reed Terry, at the First Baptist Church, Hillsboro.

The double ring ceremony was performed before the altar which was centered with a sunburst arrangement of white stock and gladiolus. Flanking this were mandalabras holding other candles. Greenery and other candles completed the setting.

The bride is a junior at North Texas State College, Denton. The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Terry, 216 Craig Street, Hillsboro, is a senior at Texas Christian University, Fort Worth.

The Rev. J. W. Bruner, Jr., of Hillsboro, officiated at the ceremony. Mrs. H. A. Weatherby, Jr., of Hillsboro, presented the music.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a princess gown of white delustered satin. Pearl and sequin embroidered Alencon lace made up the Capucci sleeves and brief bodice with Sabrina neckline.

The skirt swept from a wedding ring waist into a chapel train, fashioned from graceful folds of double pleats. Her silk illusion veil which was attached to pearlized lace cap fell to her shoulders. Full length white satin gloves completed the ensemble.

The bride carried a white Bible, topped with a white orchid with showers of Stephanotis. For sentiment, a pressed rose from her mother's wedding bouquet rested between its pages.

Miss Cathy Crain of Hillsboro was maid-of-honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Jane Marshall and Joanne Rawcett of Hillsboro and Mrs. Jerry Gay Cleveland of Fort Worth.

They wore identical dresses of red tulle backed velvet. Bell shaped skirts, scooped necklines, and long tapered sleeves of the gowns were complemented by head pieces of bows of red tulle.

They carried star shaped bouquets of pink tinsel chrysanthemums and pom pom chrysanthemums.

Miss Becky Lawrence of Seminole, Texas, was flower girl.

The bride's mother wore an American Beauty rose two piece sheath dress of pure silk. Special interest was given to the jacket in the arrangement of box pleats in the back. White gloves with lace applique met the three-quarter length sleeves. Her hat was of white satin trimmed with matching bows. White cymbidium orchids made up her corsage.

The mother of the groom was wearing a mint green sheath featuring a cowl neckline and Italian tunnel sleeves. Accenting the waistline of her dress was an antique gold buckle. Accessorizing her dress were beige satin gloves and a beige veiled hat, topped with a matching rose. Beige cymbidium orchids made up her corsage.

C. C. Terry assisted his son as best man. Groomsmen were Dean Paul Bennett of Austin, Gary Whites of Cleburne, and Bobby Keeling of Henderson.

Candlelighters were Jerry Gay Cleveland of Fort Worth and Mike Curry of Hillsboro.

Master Rob Himmel of Brackville, Texas, was ring bearer.

Following the ceremony a reception was given by the bride's parents in the social hall of the church.

The houseparty included: Mrs. John Haldek, Mrs. Clyde Copeland, Mrs. C. W. Barnes, Mrs. E. L. Perry, Miss Dana Kay Bruner, Miss Joan Rowe, Miss Blair Martin of Itasca, Miss Martha Cur-rin of Denton, and the Misses Charlotte Lawrence, Martha Lawrence and Linda Lawrence of Seminole.

Parents of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Terry, were hosts to the rehearsal party at a dinner, Friday night in the social hall of the church.

The couple will reside at 2527 South Jennings, Fort Worth.

Mr. and Mrs. Galiga and children, Lilly (now Mrs. Robert Himmell), Pat and Joe are former Comanche residents. Mr. Galiga was coach of the Comanche Indians here for four seasons, 1950-53. He is now superintendent of the Hillsboro school system.

THE MEAT PACKING COMPANIES

In the past two years the companies in the meat packing industry have begun to bear out the hopes of investors. The earnings for many companies turned decisively upward and the share prices performed in similar fashion. The many new plants constructed in recent years brought a marked increase in efficiency and raw material costs were lessened by the larger supply of cattle. These two factors were the prime reasons for the improved results, supported by the expanding population and growing consumer income. Nevertheless, in the next year or more further progress can be expected in the industry. The same factors should be at work in this coming period and the share prices, in our opinion, still have considerable appreciation potential at current levels.

For the next 18 months, the outlook is encouraging. Cattle supplies are expected to be 6-8% higher. Over 100-million head are currently on the range and the movement to market ought to be substantial for the next two or three years. Hog numbers will probably continue tight for the first half but thereafter a definite improvement is forecast. Prices of hogs stand at high levels ($19 hundredweight), and should induce a good increase in farrowings as farmers take advantage of the attractive price situation. In the latter half of 1961 and the first part of 1962, prices for this animal ought to trend steadily downwards. Historically, the swing in such prices is sharp and profit margins are affected dramatically. In the latter part of 1961, the cattle and hog cycle may well turn favorable at the same time, an extremely favorable situation which does not occur often.

Swift & Co.: The company has spent substantial sums in the past seven years and a heavy percentage of its fixed plant is new. The company has always enjoyed strong finances and a large cash flow from depreciation is generated. While 1960 results were somewhat disappointing, the potential for a sizeable gain in earning power remains.

Motorists to See Red at Texas Highway Construction Points

AUSTIN—The Texas Highway Department has announced a highway safety measure designed to protect the motorist by making him see red—literally. The Department said it will require flagmen directing traffic at highway construction and maintenance projects to wear bright red vests and to use a flag of the same color.

The men in the red vests will begin appearing on Texas highways in mid-February, when Highway Department employees working on maintenance jobs will don the eye-catching apparel. Made from fluorescent red nylon, the new vests are designed to make flagmen more easily visible and recognizable to motorists both day and night. At night the vests and flags will be supplemented by flares.

Red flags have been used by flagmen in the past but the fluorescent color and the vests are new requirements, made "to insure added safety and convenience for the public in the movement of traffic to and through highway construction and maintenance operations," said D. C. Greer, State Highway Engineer. He hailed the new vests as a safety measure not only for motorists but also for highway workmen.

Beginning with the February contract letting, he said, the specifications for all highway projects will require that flagging be done with the use of the special vests and flags.

The same flag signals will be retained; flagman's arm fully extended horizontally to indicate "STOP"; movement of the flagman's free hand without use of the flag to indicate "PROCEED."

the best man on the force, and it does not do any harm to smile and say, "Good Morning," even if it is raining.

"Don't fail to speak to the man you pass on the street because you think that he would not appreciate it. He may be thinking the same thing about you.

"He soon learns that most of the other fellows are as ambitious as he is, and that they have brains that are as good as his, or better.

"He soon learns that work is a greater secret of success than brains or cleverness.

"A good business man learns to sympathize with the youngster coming into the business, because he remembers how bewildered he was when he first started to work.

"He learns not to worry when he loses an order or misses a sale, or when part of his crop fails. Experience has shown him that if he always gives his best, the law of average will break pretty well for him.

"He learns that no man ever got to the first base alone, and that it is only through co-operative effort that we move to better things.

"He learns that most bosses are not monsters trying to get the last ounce out of him, for the least amount of pay, but they are usually fine men who have succeeded through hard work who generally want to do the right thing.

"He learns that usually the gang is no harder to get along with in one place than in another, and that being able to get along, depends about 98 per cent on his own behavior."

Maybe you are possessed of the seven greatest things on earth and don't know it. Here is the list as carried in an exchange:
The greatest day—Today.
The greatest sin—Fear.
The greatest need—Common sense.
The greatest mistake—Giving up.
The most expensive indulgence—Hate.

The greatest thing in the world—Love.

Telling a man he looks nice, pleases him more than telling a woman, because he does not hear it so often.

Rufus Higgs, publisher of the Stephenville papers, recently was given recognition in the Fort Worth Star-Telegram with almost a full page write-up of his outstanding service to his community and Texas as a newspaperman.

Rufus and his son, Rufus Jr. (Bud) and other helpers are getting out two of the best small town newspapers in Texas—the weekly Stephenville Empire-Tribune and the Daily Empire.

Comanche feels like she is a contributing factor to Rufus' success, for this city is the native home of his efficient wife, the former Johnnie Mae Sullivan.

The Sullivans have been useful citizens of Comanche almost since the town was established more than 100 years ago.

One item of interest that we did not know about at the time we were writing an account of the annual Higginbotham meeting which appeared in last week's Chief was a resolution offered in memory of Messrs. R. T. Williams of Ballinger and Nick Higginbotham of Comanche, both of whom died in 1960. Each had been a member of the board of directors for many years.

Nick's father was a brother of R. W. and Joe Higginbotham, two of the founders of the firm, and he played a prominent part in the affairs of the big mercantile company during the early days of its operation.

Paul Higginbotham, another director of the company and a brother of Nick, still lives in Stephenville and until January 1960 had been manager of the Stephenville store for more than 40 years when he retired voluntarily.

Among the former Comancheans who are making good with the Higginbotham firm elsewhere and who attended the annual meeting, were "Preacher" Horton, manager of the store at Gorman, and Weldon Glasgow, manager of the Higginbotham Motor Company at Stephenville, which deals in farm machinery of all types.

If there is anything in the "Ground Hog" theory, winter is not over yet, as February 2 was only partly cloudy and the sun shined long enough to enable the little animal to see his shadow and then go back in his hole to wait another month for Spring to appear.

The difference in the time it takes news to get around today is in marked contrast to that of only a few years ago.

We can see and hear many things of importance today at the very time they take place.

Millions of people all over the world witnessed over TV the recent inauguration of President Kennedy.

In the War of 1812, Jackson and his men fought and won the Battle of New Orleans months after a treaty of peace had been signed by the United States and England.

The first knowledge here of the end of World War I was picked up by accident by a Frisco telegraph operator at the depot in Comanche. He was listening in on a message that was being sent from Fort Worth to Brownwood.

The telegraph operator hurried to the square and spread the happy news around town and soon the happy celebration of November 11, 1918 was underway.

The last battle of the Civil War was fought in Texas more than a month after General Lee had surrendered to General Grant.

The latest Texas Almanac says,

"The last shot in The War Between The States was fired in a fight at Palmito Ranch near Brownsville, Texas, May 13, 1865. A Confederate force under Colonel John S. Ford captured 800 Federal soldiers only to learn from the captives that General Lee had surrendered more than a month earlier."

History records that General Lee surrendered his sword to General Grant on April 9, 1865.

Although the Civil War was a blessing in disguise, as it freed the nation of the curse of slavery, it left Texas in a bad shape.

When Sam Houston refused to take the oath of allegiance to the Southern Confederacy in 1861 he was removed from the office of Governor of Texas in March 1861, and Lieutenant Governor Edward Clark became governor and served until December of that year when Frank R. Lubbock was elected governor of Texas.

Houston died of grief two years later on July 26, 1863 at his home at Huntsville. Although Houston bitterly opposed Texas joining the Confederacy, he signed papers to allow his oldest son the right to join the Confederate army.

An old will made by Houston just prior to his death is now in the Houston Museum at Huntsville and reveals some of his ideas about education.

The following is an extract from the will: "My will is that my sons should receive solid and useful education, and that no portion of their time may be devoted to the study of abstract science. I greatly desire that they should possess a thorough knowledge of the English language, with a good knowledge of the Latin language. I request that they be instructed in the Holy Scriptures, and that next to these, that they may be rendered thorough in a knowledge of geography and history. I wish my sons taught an entire contempt for novels and light reading."

Lubbock served only one term as Governor of Texas and was succeeded by Pendleton Murrah.

Murrah proved to be a man lacking in courage. When the Confederacy surrendered to the United States, Murrah became scared and fled to Mexico where he remained until his death two years later in 1865 at Monterrey.

In his message to the Legislature, May 1865, Governor Murrah said: "Imperative duty compels me to call your attention to the fearful demoralization and crime existing throughout Texas. The voice of the law is hushed and its authority is seldom asserted. It is a dead letter—an unhonored thing upon the pages of the statute-book. Texas is now filled with brave, but heart-sick soldiers returning home to find more of their property gone. There is no law to restrain the wicked."

When Murrah fled to Mexico, he was succeeded in the office of governor by Lieutenant Governor Fletcher S. Stockdale.

In June 1865 Stockdale was removed by the U. S. Governor as governor, and General Granger of the U. S. Army was placed in control. On June 19 he proclaimed all the slaves of Texas set free. That date even to this day generally regarded as a holiday for the Negroes and is generally referred to as "Juneteenth."

At the order of the United States, a convention with representatives from every county in Texas, was held at Austin in February 1866. All who attended were required to denounce allegiance to the Confederacy and to take an oath to support the Constitution of the United States.

All Confederate debts and money were repudiated. An election to choose a governor of Texas was set for June 1866 at which time J. W. Throckmorton was elected governor and George W. Jones, lieutenant governor.

In March 1867, however, the U. S. Congress passed a law placing the entire South under military rule. President Johnson vetoed the bill, but Congress passed it over his veto. Governor Throckmorton was forced to resign, as well as all other civil officers. Four thousand U. S. troops were placed in Texas to enforce military rule.

In August 1867 E. M. Pease was appointed governor of Texas, but later, on September 30, 1869, Governor Pease, feeling that he could do neither himself nor the state justice while he was under control of military officers, resigned and for some months did not have a governor. Duties of that office were performed by military officers.

In November 1869 by order of the United States, a new State Constitution was ratified by the people of Texas and Edmund J. Davis was elected governor.

Before Texas could be re-admitted to the Union, she was required to ratify the 13th, 14th, and 15th Amendments to the Constitution of the United States. This was done by the State Legislature in 1870. Thus, Texas, which left the Union in 1860, was now back in the hold after an absence of ten years.

H. C. Hamilton and J. W. Flannagan were elected U. S.

Senators, and for the first time in 10 years, Texas again has senators and congressmen in government at Washington.

THOUGHT OF THE WEEK—
Before you criticize the OLD FOLKS, remember that even though a clock is run down, it's right twice a day.

Tribute Paid To G. Homer Hillin

Some men choose to walk the Higher Roads of Life. To flash their names across the world wide sky—To spread aboard their Glory and their Fame

And to leave a Nation grieving, when they die. Other men choose to walk the common way

And little ask of Life—to own a home.

A plot of earth that he can call his own. To have his loved one near, as he walks day by day Little ones gathered around his feet at play—Some kindly neighbors and a chance to live—So Hope and Faith and help and Joy—To others he can give.

Like that he was—He chose to walk the lower road of life Humble and Kind and ever happily He filled his every day with useful toil.

Equally well he'd hel you build a house, Or fix your well, or gather grain, or plow your soil.

And few who came to know him—ere forgot

His kindly smile—slow spoken—calm and true—

Ever encouraging—lifting up your heart—

Feeling—that he had faith in you.

And Who is there to say—

What lives are Great!

In God's great scheme of things—Christ chose a lowly common way of Life—

His Glory and His praise—now countless Angels sing.

And you whose hearts are bowed with grief—

Dear wife—the daughters and the son—

Grandchildren, sisters, brothers, neighbors, all.

Lift up your hearts—

Good seeth not a sparrow fall—

And some day when the Scroll of Life is read—

You'll know—Yes even now we know—through Faith

That those who die in Christ—Are never really dead.

For so the Bible reads—That those who die in Christ—

Shall at the last great trumpet rise—

And—clothed in glory and immortality—

Go to meet the Saviour in the skies.
